

Melissa Staiger

www.melissastaiger.com

(917) 923-8096

I channel color to create pulsating combinations. Experimentation with hues and surfaces pushes the work in constant new directions. Triangles, color, composition, and space are concepts I use to build a painting. These elements can be viewed as patterns, the natural world, direction, or the idea of balance. I paint intuitively with many layers and leave the under paintings as traces of the process behind.